OXFORD BROOKES UNIVERSITY
STUDY ABROAD AND EXCHANGE 2018

www.brookes.ac.uk/exchange
“I really enjoyed meeting people from other countries and learning about their culture as we experienced the English culture together. I made friends from Australia, the US, Finland, Germany and Spain. These were the ones I talked the most with, though there was always a feeling of a small international community where everyone was welcome and respected.”

Mille Bjørn, study abroad student from University College UCC, Denmark
If you choose to study at Oxford Brookes you will find one of the world’s most scenic and historic cities on your doorstep. It is big enough to offer something for everyone but small enough to be welcoming and easy to get around. So when you take a break from your studies, here are a few things you can do in this special place.

You can walk through two parks from Clive Booth Student Village all the way to the supermarket and it’s just serene and very nice.”
Kevin Kollar, Education Eastern Michigan University

SHOP ‘TIL YOU DROP
If you’re looking for some retail therapy, head for the High Street or Cornmarket Street. With their wide pavements and historic buildings they combine a sense of atmosphere with the latest clothing and department stores. Oxford’s Covered Market, dating back to 1774, houses a range of charming independent shops and quirky boutiques stocking everything from hats to handbags and cheese to chocolate. For designer brands and luxury fashion at discounted prices visit Bicester Village outlet shopping centre and pick up a bargain.

ARE YOU A CULTURE VULTURE?
You are spoilt for choice in Oxford. Traditional museums such as the Ashmolean, Pitt Rivers and History of Science rub shoulders with contemporary galleries like Modern Art Oxford. Take in a show at the Oxford Playhouse, the Pegasus Theatre or the New Theatre where West End plays alternate with the biggest bands and stand-up comedians. Some students at Oxford Brookes may also apply for access to the world-renowned Bodleian Library, an unparalleled resource, home to more than 11 million printed items and 50,000 e-journals all in the most exquisite of settings.

Relax in South Park, next to Headington Campus and admire the celebrated dreaming spires – don’t miss the annual firework display.

EATING OUT
Feeling hungry? No problem. Whatever your appetite, Moroccan to Mexican, Indian to Italian, Oxford caters for every taste and every budget.

MAKE A NIGHT OF IT
Go see a Shakespeare play performed outdoors in beautiful surroundings and take a picnic. Enjoy live music at the O2 Academy on the buzzing Cowley Road, or a classical concert at the stunning Sheldonian Theatre. There’s always the latest blockbuster movie at one of the central cinemas or a classic film at the Ultimate Picture Palace if you’re feeling nostalgic. Or get a real taste for British culture in a traditional pub, perhaps where J.R.R. Tolkien and C.S. Lewis once discussed the world of fantasy novels.

FURTHER AFIELD
Our international students make the most of Oxford’s central position in the UK. They can visit the magnificent city of Bath to admire the Regency architecture and Roman relics, classical Cambridge, Stratford-upon-Avon – Shakespeare’s birthplace, the romantic Cotswold hills, the castles at Windsor and Warwick and, of course, London which is only an hour away by train. The UK is full of great places to visit... what will your destination be?

Campus life is a key part of your university experience. Most students spend a major part of their time on campus, so we have invested in our campuses to make sure they meet your day-to-day needs.

Headington Campus

Just over a mile east of the city centre (a 20 minute walk), Headington Campus is our busiest. Here you will find our award-winning John Henry Brookes Building, which offers high quality teaching and learning facilities, an excellent library, social learning spaces, Brookes Union and student services.

Headington Campus is also home to a sports centre, medical centre and has our nursery for children nearby. Students of architecture, the arts, built environment, health and life sciences, most humanities courses, law, publishing, social sciences and international pathways courses are based on our Headington Campus – on one of our three sites: Headington Road, Headington Hill and Marston Road.

We are transforming Headington Campus with the next phase of improvements, set to complete in Summer 2017. It includes a new home for Oxford Brookes Business School, further teaching and learning spaces and professional-standard science labs.

In summer 2017 Oxford Brookes Business School will be moving to the Headington Campus. Two adjoining buildings are undergoing a £30m redevelopment to provide our Business School, including the Oxford School of Hospitality Management, with a new home at the heart of the university. Those of you starting in September 2018 will be among the first to benefit from these first-class learning spaces close to university facilities and the city centre.

Harcourt Hill Campus

Just two miles west of the city centre, this campus is home to students on courses in education, philosophy and communication, forming a friendly, close-knit student community.

Renowned for its inspiring views across the city, it provides a high standard of learning facilities as well as recently upgraded student accommodation, social areas, cafes, and a sports centre including swimming pool, sports fields and outdoor pitches.

As part of our major ongoing investment in our campuses, exciting and significant development work is planned for Harcourt Hill Campus. The redevelopment will provide brand new teaching and learning facilities and an extensive refurbishment programme of existing buildings, including the sports centre.

Once these facilities are available, which is anticipated to be by 2020/2021, the whole Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences will be located at Harcourt Hill, enhancing opportunities for collaboration across the faculty. Courses in Sports and Exercise Sciences will also move to Harcourt Hill to make use of the best specialist sports facilities available.

CHOOSING MODULES FOR YOUR COURSE

Our courses are broken down into equal sized study units known as modules. Each module consists of teaching support, private study and assessment.

You will normally select four single modules per semester or equivalent. Double modules can also be taken; however some can last a full academic year, so these are not available if you are only studying for one semester.

Formal teaching is usually around 3 hours a week in subjects like humanities and social sciences, and 6 hours a week in science and technology and some vocational subjects.

Generally teaching takes place during the first 12 weeks. For the rest of the semester you will complete all the relevant assessments; this can include coursework or examinations.

There are two semesters per academic year. The first semester is from September to December. The second semester is from January to May.

For more information on module options, have a look at our Undergraduate Modular Handbook: www.brookes.ac.uk/international/study-abroad-and-exchanges/coming-to-brookes/academic-study
