

INTERNATIONAL FOUNDATION COURSES

Prepare yourself for success in your bachelor's degree

www.brookes.ac.uk/international/foundation

If you have completed high school or secondary school and have less than 13 years of education you will usually need a foundation course before taking a degree in the UK.

Once you enrol on an international foundation, you will have a guaranteed pathway to a bachelor's degree if you pass with required grades.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN:

Study skills and academic English

You will take compulsory modules that make you an effective and confident undergraduate student. You will also improve your use of English in a university setting.

Subject modules

Choose from dozens of classes that are right for you. You can select both foundation-level and degree-level classes. (See the subject pathways available in each foundation below.)

www.brookes.ac.uk/international/foundation

"I truly believe that a foundation programme is the right path for anyone who has doubts about their subject and wants to experience topics first, learning about them in undergraduate level classes."
